

Hi! I'm Federico, student of Frontend developing oriented programming. In constant development to learn new technologies.

I entered the working world at my 19 years passing through various items, learning and getting the best out of my jobs to achieve an organized, responsible, communicative, efficiency and results oriented profile.

I can establish a profile oriented to customer service, sales and 100% to the achievement of objectives.

My last work experiences have been in front of large work teams and tasks that involve being 100% committed and giving the best of oneself.

Teamwork, efficient communication, commitment and a good work environment are in my opinion the fundamental pillars to achieve any goal.

If my profile matches your search do not hesitate to contact me. Best regards!
